

Pre-Call Brief

Rockpoint Gas Storage

Kyriba TMS Evaluation

Indeterminate | Apr 29, 2026, 8:06 AM

Top line

Deal is indeterminate: buyer cadence is strong (3 calls/30 days, demo done, vendor comparison active) but CFO and SVP Accounting are fully absent, no MEDDPICC pillars are qualified, and no champion is confirmed — outcome is unreadable without EB access.

Critical risks · 3

Blocking

CFO & SVP Accounting absent — deal stalls at executive approval

Neither the CFO (economic buyer) nor SVP Accounting has attended any call or received any Kyriba-originated communication. Dale confirmed both must approve before a decision can be made and may need to attend an executive demo. Without direct EB engagement before or during vendor selection, Kyriba's position can be vetoed by an executive who has no relationship with the seller.

What to do

Ask Dale directly on this call to name a specific date by which CFO/SVP Accounting will be briefed, and offer to facilitate an executive demo or value-advisory briefing for that audience.

Competitive blind spot — ION and SKSoft demos pending, no differentiation anchor set Rockpoint has seen only one competitor so far and has not yet scheduled ION or SKSoft demos. Kyriba got first-mover advantage with the full demo but has not secured a differentiated anchor in the buyer's evaluation criteria. If ION or SKSoft demos land before Kyriba establishes what 'good' looks like, the evaluation frame will be set by a competitor.

What to do

Before ending this call, give Dale 2–3 specific architecture questions to ask ION/SKSoft (e.g., module integration method, bank connectivity ownership model, GL rec module availability) — frame these as due-diligence questions, not sales tactics.

3 High

Zero MEDDPICC capture — deal health unverifiable at evaluation stage

After 3 calls and a full demo, no MEDDPICC pillar has been captured in CRM: no documented metrics, no confirmed decision criteria, no mapped decision process, no paper process visibility, and no validated champion. The deal is opaque. If competitive activity accelerates or Dale goes dark, the rep has no qualification anchors to diagnose the problem or escalate.

What to do

Use the pricing call structure as a natural qualification moment: before presenting module pricing, confirm which modules map to which pain (Metrics), who signs off at each stage (Decision Process), and what criteria Rockpoint will use to make a final call (Decision Criteria). Log immediately after.

Recommended actions

unknown — verbally engaged and positive in calls, but champion behavior (internal selling, mobilizing EB) not yet confirmed

Senior Manager, Treasury — primary evaluator and likely internal champion candidate

- Present the 4-module pricing menu Dale requested, then ask which modules he'd prioritize if budget required phasing — forces scope commitment
- Ask Dale to name the specific date by which CFO and SVP Accounting need to be briefed, and offer to run a tailored 30-min executive demo to make that easier for him
- Plant 2–3 single-platform architecture questions to ask ION/SKSoft — frame as due diligence Dale should run, not Kyriba talking points
- Don't leave the call without a hard next step tied to CFO/SVP Accounting access — 'we'll loop them in closer to the decision' is not an acceptable outcome
- Don't let Dale own the internal pitch solo — without Kyriba's involvement in the EB conversation, the value case is whatever Dale remembers from the demo

unknown — no engagement logged in any channel

Chief Financial Officer — economic buyer, required approver per Dale's own statement

- Ask Dale: 'For the CFO to feel confident approving this, what's the one question they'll want answered first?' — surfaces EB's frame before the rep needs to address it
- Offer the value advisory / ROI exercise as the vehicle Dale uses to brief the CFO — position it as Dale's presentation, Kyriba-supported
- Request Dale's permission to be on the CFO briefing call, even as a technical resource — the goal is a warm introduction, not a cold pitch
- Don't accept 'I'll handle the CFO internally' without a specific date or format agreed
- Don't wait for the CFO to appear organically — at evaluation stage, absent EB is a blocking risk, not a process step

unknown — no engagement logged

SVP, Accounting — required approver per Dale, likely stakeholder for GL reconciliation and journal entry scope

- Ask Dale: 'When SVP Accounting reviews this, will GL reconciliation automation be their primary evaluation lens or will they focus on payment controls?' — sets up the executive demo framing
- Suggest SVP Accounting attends the same executive demo as the CFO — one session covers both senior approvers
- Offer to send Dale a one-page GL rec summary he can share with SVP Accounting before the demo to prime the conversation
- Don't assume SVP Accounting's concerns mirror Dale's treasury priorities — accounting automation pain is real but scoped differently

unknown — engaged and asking functional questions on calls, positive signals but no stated preference logged

Senior Treasury Finance Analyst — functional evaluator, active on all calls, deep in payment approval and GL rule configuration questions

- If Caroline attends this call, address the implementation self-service question directly — confirm she can amend GL mapping rules post-go-live without Kyriba involvement
- Acknowledge her audit access question from the demo call — confirm read-only auditor access is standard, not a premium add-on
- Don't over-invest in Caroline at the expense of CFO/SVP access — she's influential within the team but cannot approve the deal

unknown — engaged positively, but flagged the most technically complex objection in the demo around AR sub-ledger GL posting

Senior Treasury Accounting Analyst — functional evaluator, raised the AR sub-ledger complexity question that Dale flagged as a potential scope limiter

- Raise the AR sub-ledger question proactively with Dale: 'Has your team had a chance to think through whether AR journal entry automation will be in scope for phase one?' — get a scope signal before pricing is presented
- If Golden is present, confirm whether Kyriba's implementation team has a standard approach for locked GL accounts in D365 — or schedule an implementation pre-scoping call to resolve it
- Don't leave the AR/GL sub-ledger question unaddressed — if it's left open it becomes a competitor differentiator or a scope reduction lever
